SUBJECT:

Washington, D.C. 20505

JUL 1 1988

Dear Ms. [REDACTED]

The White House has forwarded your letter to the President regarding your entitlement to a retirement annuity to this Agency for review and a response to you. I empathize with your situation and have personally reviewed the circumstances surrounding the decision to deny you former-spouse benefits.

In granting such benefits, the Agency must adhere to the legislated entitlements. One of the primary requirements for entitlement to these benefits is that both the employee and former spouse have been overseas at the same time for a minimum of five years. This is true, even though it was your desire to accompany your husband on his overseas tour. If the five-year requirement is not met, the Agency has no authority to provide the former-spouse benefit.

I sincerely regret that I could not give you a positive response. If you have any further questions on this issue, please do not hesitate to contact me in writing at the above address.

Sincerely,

Director of Personnel

DD/EBS/OP, [REDACTED]

President of the United States

Dear Mr. President:

I am an elderly (62) destitute woman who needs your help.

I have been unjustly disqualified for my pension under Bill PL 100-178, by the Chief of the Retirement Division of the C.I.A. I have no income and without this pension I will be forced to apply for welfare.

Please read the accompanying letter. Your help and advice will be gratefully appreciated.
Yours truly,
